

Gobblers in the garden

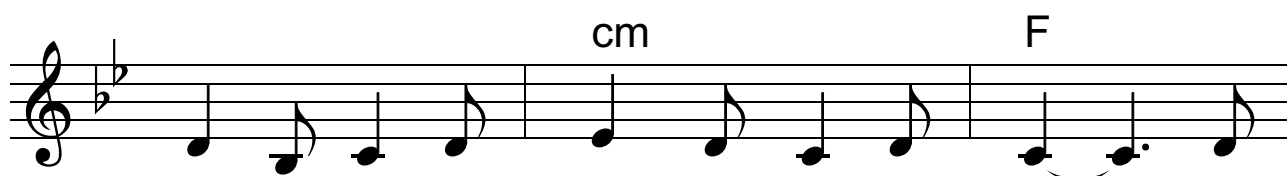

The Kipper Family

1. Well when first I wed me Nor - folk girl, we
2. When fi - nal - ly he fi - nished, ___ me 3. He drove us to our lod - gings ___ and 4. She said you've real - ly got to laugh, but 5. Now we've been mar - ried se - ven years and all went back to Trunch to drink a toast, and eye - lids felt like lead, so me and my new he said chee - ri - o, but I fi - nally made him I was pro - per riled I was so fed we've got three young pups. Well, twice he went on cut the cake, and have a bite of lunch. Now mis - sus said we thought t'was time for bed. In the rea - lise it was him that ought to go. And up I could - n't e - ven raise a smile. I ho - li - day and once we tied him up. And she and I was ea - ger to start the ho - ney - coach I said I thought we'd ne - ver get a - way from soon we lay to - ge - ther me wife say go to could - n't see the joke at all. All I saw was eve - ry hour of eve - ry day his pro - mi - ses we've moon, but her fa - ther made a speech which went on him. But when we cud-dled up the dri - ver town. But my am - bi - tion with - ered when a red. For eve - ry time we kissed he'd call from heard. Now me and my old twelve-bore think that's half the af - ter - noon. He told me: turned round with a grin. And he said: win - dow - pane flew down. This voice said: un - der - neath the bed. And he said: time he kept his word. His words are:

Treat me daugh-ter de - cent, don't do her a - ny ill and when I go I'll leave you my small - hol-ding in my will. I'll leave me muck heap and me si - lage me slur - ry and me swill and all the great big gob - blers in the gar - den.